Chammas & Marcheteau advises Seaya Andromeda on Wiremind's €35 million fundraising (Software/AI)

Chammas & Marcheteau advised Seaya Andromeda on Wiremind's €35 million fundraising, alongside IronWave (formerly Wendel Growth) and Bpifrance Investissement, through its Large Venture fund.

Founded in 2014, Wiremind is a French software company specializing in AI-powered revenue management, inventory and distribution solutions for passenger transport operators and the events industry. Profitable since its inception, the company serves more than 80 clients and recorded revenue growth of 67% in 2025.

This first fundraising, following twelve years of self-financed growth, will enable Wiremind to accelerate its international expansion, particularly in South America, the Middle East and Asia-Pacific, and strengthen its investments in artificial intelligence research and development, including machine learning and large language models.

The Chammas & Marcheteau team consisted of Christophe Blondeau (partner), Margaux Deuchler and Antoine Catala (associates).
