Chammas & Marcheteau advises the Fleuret Group on the acquisition of Objectif Emballages (Industry/Defense)

Chammas & Marcheteau advised the Fleuret Group, a leading provider of transport solutions for sensitive components serving the Aerospace-Defense industry, on the acquisition of Objectif Emballages.

Founded in 2007, Objectif Emballages is an Orléans-based company specialized in the design and manufacture of tailor-made protection solutions for sensitive equipment, with recognized expertise in the Defense sector.

Following InnovaFonds' investment alongside Bpifrance and the acquisition of BRC in 2025, the Fleuret Group continues to pursue its growth strategy, bringing the Group's revenue to nearly €25 million.

This acquisition strengthens the Fleuret Group's presence among Defense industry players by increasing its production capacities and expanding its product ranges, in a context of sustained ramp-up in its clients' activities.

The Chammas & Marcheteau team consisted of Pierre-Louis Sévegrand (partner) and Sandie Dion (associate) on transactional and legal due diligence aspects, together with Christophe Moreau (partner) on tax aspects, and Floriane Maginot and Emmanuel Corbel (associates) on employment law aspects, in connection with the due diligence.
